Buxus harlandii is a variety of boxtree that has a superb trunk, featuring a unique cracked bark. This bonsai is cut in moyogii curved S-shaped style, with a beautiful conical shape. There are no obvious signs of wounds or traces of branches that have been removed.

This indoor bonsai is easy to care for if it's left in a cool room that's not overheated. It can be put outside in full light in spring until the end of summer. We advise using Biogold manure once per month.
